That same upper chamber, we may conclude, was the scene of our Lord s appearances at Jerusalem to the assembled Apostles after His return from the grave; the place where, on the day of the Resurrection, He breathed on them that they might receive the Holy Ghost; the place where, a week after, St. Thomas exclaimed My Lord and my God. That same upper chamber, we believe, was the place where after the Ascension the One hundred and twenty met, and St. Matthias was added to the Eleven. Also we think it was the scene of the miracle of the Day of Pentecost; and there, I doubt not, was the place in which the first Eucharist, after our Lord s Ascension, was celebrated. We are also told that the believers continued steadfastly in the prayers, such as appertained to their common worship; a...
