Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from With the Victoria Column in Matabeleland: Tuesday, 20th March, 1894 Let each man have his own opinion; surely, freedom of opinion is one of the grandest things of which we Britishers may be justly proud! My position was rather unique, for I had no personal quarrel with nor enmity against the Matabeles. I was out in South Africa hunting with a friend, and a very good time we had too. It may interest some of the audience to see a photograph I took with my kodak of a bag we brought in one morning - I will presently produce a view of it two lions and eight bucks; besides which we brought in that same day two more bucks and a wolf, which is the name given to the spotted hyena out there. This bag was shot a couple of days from the Lundi river. I take this opportunity to thank the Eastman Photographic Materials Co., Ltd., for the careful manner in which they have made the lantern slides from the negatives of the No. 2 Kodak, with which they supplied me. While shooting sea cows (the Dutch word for hippopotamus) on the Umtilikie river at the end of July, we heard that the Matabeles had made a raid upon Victoria. The Kaffirs are so prone to exaggerate that we did not really give much credence to their stories, and in fact thought no more about it, until on our return journey while at Buby river some transport riders (the generic term for all Pickfords and Hibberts in that country) confirmed the reports which we had heard from the Kaffirs, and as I was loath...
